Quote of the Month

What else is love but understanding and rejoicing in the fact that another person lives, acts, and experiences otherwise than we do?

Friedrich Nietzsche
German philopopher 1844-1900

Happy New Year to all our Students, Parents and Teachers,

It is with pleasure that I welcome you all back after our Christmas break and I am hopeful that you were able to enjoy this precious time with family and friends.

Pennies for Peace Fund Raiser

The school has joined forces with other Personalized Learning schools from the APLUS and the Personalized Learning Foundation to raise funds for "Pennies for Peace." In the book "Three Cups of Tea" by Greg Mortensen, Greg describes his efforts to build schools in Pakistan and Afghanistan promoting "Peace...One School at a Time." Please ask your teacher about our efforts and for further information read his amazing book.

Second Semester Increase in EUs

It is the goal of the school that the discretionary Educational Units budget allows greater flexibility for our students to pursue their unique passions and interests promoting greater individual selection of classes. It has simultaneously been the goal of the Leadership Team to increase the EU budget when the School's overall budget can support an increase. I am happy to let you know that the budget will allow for a two hundred EU increase this semester. One hundred may be applied to enrichment classes and the other hundred is for academic tutoring. This said I must also advise you all that there are some unknowns at this time about our school's funding for this year as the Governor works towards reducing the State's deficits. The additional funds are there to address our students' needs but I request that you keep these unknown factors in mind as you plan for your students 2nd semester and work with your Personalized Learning Teacher to plan an excellent PL program for your child.

Parent Teacher Student Survey

It will soon be time for you to give us your opinion about the schools' programs and how they are working. The annual survey will be mailed to you with a self-addressed envelop for your ease of response. Please watch the mail and make out the survey. We rely on your opinions to shape our schools' direction.

Other Items of Interest

Each of our areas faces their own unique challenges and goals. Placer County staff and parents will be petitioning anew this year for a local sponsor, Yuba County has begun a facility search to increase the size of their center and Butte County continues to work their way through their first year start up issues in a new location. Please feel free to talk to your PL teacher and Area Coordinator Education about their goals and challenges and see how you can participate in making these dreams come true.

Marysville Center

Advanced Drama Class is busily preparing their winter performance of Secret Garden. They have received loans of beautiful costumes from The Acting Company in Yuba City and properties from antique estate sales in historic Marysville. Gray Lodge Field Trip by Serene Turner

The Gray Lodge Field trip sponsored by the Flying Wild Leadership class in Marysville was enjoyed by all who attended. We had a group of approximately 25, consisting of students of all ages, younger siblings, parents, two docents and myself.

We all managed to arrive on time at the meeting spot on a beautiful day in Nov. which was perfect for enjoying the beauty of the wildlife refuge. The walking tour gave ample opportunities to view animals and birds, as well as get acquainted with other families in our learning community. There were thousands of Snow Geese, Ross Geese, Tundra Swans as well as other migratory waterfowl, and even an otter. We toured the museum and learned about many native plants. One of particular interest to me, was Hemlock, because of it's notorious reputation. All of the children were very attentive to the docent, and she commented to me as we were leaving, on how pleasant it was to guide our group because they had that "home-schooled" ease.

A most spectacular sight was after we left the refuge and were driving through the fields we spotted some Sandhill Cranes. We turned the car around and went back to see them. There were about 25 of them that we could see, and as we crept up closer to get a better look, we startled them into the air and birds that were lying low in the grain fields suddenly appeared and about 50 or more Sandhill Cranes took flight. Sandhill Cranes are huge birds and it was a magnificent thing to see.

I also saw 3 Great Blue Herons during the course of the day. It was endearing to see the little ones, together with the older students, all so interested and engaged in looking through their binoculars and enjoying nature. I hope anyone that went this year will join us again next year and spread the word about birds being a readily available vehicle for learning about, and communing with nature.

Students in the College Prep English Class were encouraged to write an editorial and submit it to a local paper. Emily Sims worked very hard on this letter which appeared in the Appeal Democrat:

Recently there have been many articles in the local newspaper regarding housing construction in the Sutter Buttes. I believe that construction in the Sutter Buttes will not take away from its beauty. If people want to build houses there, I would say, "Go ahead, but do not obstruct the view."

Do not get me wrong, I love the Buttes and they are beautiful, but their beauty is not protected like Yosemite National Park of California. Surprisingly, 99 percent of the Sutter Buttes are privately owned by local farmers and ranchers. Therefore, inaccessible without permission, most (of the land) will remain unchanged.

Limits should be set for how high developers can build houses. Both construction companies and those who want to protect the Buttes will get their wants met. That way, everyone will still enjoy a relaxing and peaceful drive around the Sutter Buttes.

Signs of Winter

Signs of winter,
near far?

Signs of winter
aren't very far.

The skies are cloudy.

The air is cold.

The leaves are red,
and brown and gold.

And one last thing
I'll say so kind,

Two Paths

Two paths stretch out, oh so far,

Where does each one lead?

Two voices, then, call out to you,

Which one should you heed?

The first road is narrow,

The second one so broad.

Both of them look well-used,

And both of them well-trod.

The first voice says,

"Come follow me, I'll take you to above."

The second says,

"Come follow you, you'll be your only love."

On the narrow you can see,

People, far away.

On the other hand, there's people, too,

On the broad, other way.

Now's the time, and you know,

Just what you're going to do.

You need to call on someone who's

Bigger and stronger than you.

You kneel down and clasp your hands,

Then you start to pray.

Asking God to please,

CORE Butte Charter School is participating in Butte College's Reg-to-Go Program.

This program is for all graduating seniors.

What is Reg-to-Go?

Reg-to-Go is a Butte College sponsored program that allows you, upon completion of the program, to register for courses before all of the new and new transfer students, making it more likely that you will get the classes that you want at the time that you want them!

For Whom is Reg-to-Go Designed?

1. High School seniors who may have never considered themselves as "college material".
2. High School seniors who know they want to attend Butte College.
3. High School seniors who are still weighing their options.

If I participate what will I be expected to do?

Reg-to-Go consists of three separate activities which are completed in this order:

1. April 22, 2008 Orientation/Campus Tour: Along with other Seniors from your high school (and possibly other high schools), you will be bussed (or driven) to Butte College and spend the day meeting current student-leaders, hearing a faculty member discuss classroom expectations, touring the campus and hearing about career and transfer programs offered at Butte College.

2. April 24, 2008 Basic Skills Assessment (BSA): This assessment, not test, is administered on your high school campus. It lasts for approximately 2 ½ hours and assesses your skills in English, Reading and Math. The results will help you pick classes in which you are most apt to be successful.

3. May 1, 2008 Counseling and Registration: With a small group of your peers, you will meet for two hours with a Butte College counselor. This meeting takes place on your high school campus as well. During this time, the counselor will explain your BSA results and assist you in putting together a schedule of classes. Once your schedule is complete, you will register for these classes by computer or over the phone. A counselor remains close by to assist with any schedule conflicts or changes.

How do I sign up?

Contact your high school counselor Marlene Brenden at: 518-6809 or e-mail her at marbrenden@comcast.net. Make sure and send your name, teacher name, contact information including phone and an e-mail address (it could even be your teacher's if you don't have one).

Two Outstanding Students at CORE Butte

By Debra Moon

This month, two students at CORE Butte have received special invitations due to their academic merit. Megan Yamada-Bryant, senior at the Chico Center was accepted at California State University, Chico for next fall. Her application showed such a stellar academic record and such high grades that she was immediately invited to apply for a President's scholarship. This is a $12,000 scholarship given to students on the basis of the academic achievement, rather than financial need. The invitation to apply is an honor itself. Megan will study art at CSU Chico.

Jordan Cottrell, 11th grade student at CORE Butte Chico Center, received an invitation to apply for a special 6-week summer program sponsored by Telluride University. The program is offered only to top students who can work in teams to learn and accomplish goals. Jordan is most interested in the session which will be offered at Cornell University, titled, "Human Rights, Cultural Rights and Economic Rights: Views from the 'Global South.'" Jordan was invited based on her score on the PSAT, recently taken at the Chico Center. Jordan is an outstanding student who is academically at the top rank of the current junior class at CORE.

Leadership Workshops

February is the month for Leadership Workshops at CORE. This will be the fourth year the workshop has been held in Chico, and a new first, a workshop will also be held at the Marysville Center. The workshops teach leadership and team-building skills: Communication, Collaboration, Trust and Responsibility. These skills are applicable to school, work, family situations and friendships. It is even helpful, for teachers to incorporate the activities into their classrooms. It is a wonderful opportunity for 7th through 12th grade students at CORE to learn vital life skills and to have a ton of fun doing it. Workshops are led by Dave Campbell and an experienced crew of youth workers. The Marysville Leadership Workshop will be held at the Marysville Center on Tuesday February 19th from 2:30 until 6 pm. The Chico Leadership Workshop will be held at the Chico Center on Thursday February 21st from 2:30 until 6 pm. Dinner and snacks are provided at both workshops. The cost of the workshop is 30 EUs. Please contact Debra Moon, 343-9204, debramoon@comcast.net if you are interested. Teachers or parents may come free if a student is attending, but please notify Debra of your attendance. Join us for learning and fun!

PRIDE ON AND OFF THE ICE

Chloe Sluis, mother of CORE at Camptonville 7th Grade student, Amber Sluis, fights back the tears as her coach, Amber Turner, left, and fellow Roseville Skate Town skaters Savannah Shoup, 10, and Donna Moore, right, rush to congratulate her. Sluis had just finished her first solo skating competition during the 2007 ISI Adult Championships at Fiesta Rancho's SoBe Ice Arena last Sunday. But her mind was halfway around the world in Iraq, where her two sons are serving in the Army. Skating "helps keep your mind off of it and it helps keep you creative," Sluis said.

The 49-year-old keeps busy raising her youngest child, Amber, 13. She home schools her in Nevada City, Calif., and drives her to Roseville, 70 miles one way, three times a week for skating lessons.

Looking for a way to take her mind off her boys in Iraq, Sluis picked up a pair of skates herself two years ago. On Sunday, dressed in a shimmering red, white and blue paneled dress falling just below her knees, Sluis floated across the ice to Nichole Nordeman's "Brave." She circled a handmade poster displaying a map of Iraq flanked by pictures of her sons, Spec. Josh Sluis, 20, and Sgt. Gabe Sluis, 22. In her handwriting, it read, "Proud Army Mom of Two."

At the end of her program she skated to the poster and saluted before bowing to the judges.

The small crowd of mostly adult skaters standing around the rink cheered and clapped as Sluis fought back tears exiting the ice.

"I wanted to do good on this one, to honor them and so they would be proud," she said. "It wasn't about me skating, it was about honoring them for being brave."

As almost an afterthought, Sluis won her event as well.

Colfax 6th Grade Student Heidi Harmon dances in the Nutcracker Ballet

Heidi Harmon loves the Nutcracker Ballet. Heidi also loves Soccer. Last fall she faced the difficult decision of choosing between her beloved soccer and a chance to dance in the Nutcracker Ballet. Heidi has always dreamed of dancing in the Nutcracker and chose to audition for the ballet. She had initially hoped to be chosen as one of the party girls but was delighted to be soldier as they were on stage with Clara and the Nutcracker.

An extra part became available when one of the other dancers was unavailable so Heidi joyfully accepted the opportunity to dance both roles.

The event was a success and Heidi's performances went very well. So well in fact that she now talks about her future with the Nutcracker.

Seniors and Early Graduating Juniors*
Apply for Financial Aid, regardless of your plans

January and February are the months prepare for your future. All Seniors and early graduating Juniors should be applying for aid, regardless of your family's financial situation. For many, the cost of college is the #1 factor in applying and attending college or not, and, unless you know all of the financial aid guidelines forward and backward, you do not know what you will qualify for until you apply. So just do it!

Just follow these three steps.

1. After January 2, 2008 : Get a PIN – Go to www.pin.ed.gov and register for a 4-digit pin (like an ATM code) that you will use for the FAFSA. This takes but a few minutes to apply for, but it takes a few days to get it emailed back to you, so do it right away!
2. Fill out the FAFSA – This is a more lengthy process that involves mainly the parent/guardian. The FAFSA is an online application that asks for information based on your (parent/guardian's) 2007 tax return. If you have not yet completed this, that is ok, though it is easier if you complete your tax return first. Otherwise you simply estimate based on 2006. Visit www.fafsa.ed.gov for more information and the form.

3. Fill out and send the Cal Grant GPA Verification form by March 2nd – If we do not have your Social Security # on file, we will not be able to automatically electronically send your GPA verification to Cal Grant. If that is the case, you should be receiving a form filled out by your counselor, the second side to be completed by you and sent in. Or you may call the administrative office 530-478-9458 to include your Social Security # on the list. The Cal Grant is a California state grant that is based on the FAFSA and your GPA. The GPA is specially calculated by us (counselors), so do not count yourself out if your GPA is lower than you think it should be. It will be a different GPA for the Cal Grant.

Visit www.calgrant.org for more info.

Contact the counseling office with questions. (530) 478-9458 xt.207 or counseling@coretca.org.
